Guardian Jet Introduces New Program Aimed at Aircraft Administration for Citations

Program is intended to take the “hassle” out of managing aircraft paperwork

PHILADELPHIA (October 31, 2003) – Guardian Jet, LLC, a Connecticut-based company specializing in consulting, oversight and brokerage for the owner-flown light jet market is pleased to introduce Guardian Echelon Membership™. Created as an answer to a customers desire to reduce the constant flow of paperwork after taking delivery of his new Citation CJ2, Guardian Echelon Membership™ allows aircraft owners to elect to have Guardian Jet receive, file and maintain everything from maintenance tracking programs to scheduling routine maintenance.

“This service saves me time and energy,” said Steve Lockshin, Guardian Echelon Membership launch customer and current owner-pilot of a 2003 Citation CJ2. “Guardian Jet takes care of everything from updating and receiving my CESCO reports to tracking and submitting my William TAP Elite and ProParts information. For the owner/operator, the time savings far exceeds the nominal hourly cost and, in the end, keeps those programs more up-to-date than I would on my own.”

Currently limited to owners of straight-wing Citations, this is but one of the many ways Guardian Jet offers owners and operators with business aviation’s most complete range of consulting, oversight and brokerage services.
